Management course through Academy Online.

Reporting in Addepar offers a fast, scalable way to create and share reports with your clients. The information below will help you learn the key fundamentals of setting up your reports.

To manage reports, you must have permission to manage existing reports and create custom sections.

Create a report

You can create a single report that scales across multiple portfolios. To create a report:

1. Go to Analysis & Reporting, and select a portfolio.
2. Go to the Reports tab.
3. Click New Report.
4. Enter a descriptive name to distinguish the report from others your firm has created.
5. Choose the time period for the data the report should cover. Be mindful of Addepar's end-of-day convention. For example, to run a report for the month of April, the time period should span March 31 through April 30.
6. (Optional) If your firm uses the managed fund feature set and you want to share information about a managed fund with one or more of the fund's LPs, select Limit Report by Fund.
7. Select the portfolios you want to enable the report for. You can select up to 50,000 portfolios.
8. Select a paper size for the report.
9. Click Save. The new report will open in the Report Editor.

Duplicate a report

To duplicate an existing report:

1. Select a portfolio associated with the report, and go to the Reports tab.
2. Hover over the report, and click on the pencil icon. The Report Editor will launch in a new window.
3. Click Save As in the top toolbar.
4. Enter a title for the new report.

5. Click Create. The report will open in a new window, and will be available for all of the portfolios associated with the original report. To change the associated portfolios or time period, go to Settings in the top toolbar.

Add section templates to a report

Section templates are groups of reusable content you can add to any report. Addepar comes with a suite of built-in section templates to help you get started quickly. You can use built-in section templates as-is or edit them to include your firm's branding and specific configurations of financial information. You can also create your own section templates from scratch.

To add a section template:

1. In the Report Editor, click the + add button at the bottom of the outline panel.
2. Search for the template by name or description, or browse the list of existing templates. Note that the available templates are filtered by the report's paper size.
3. Select a template to automatically add it to the bottom of the report. The section template will populate with data from the selected portfolio.
4. You can move the template to a different location by dragging and dropping it in the outline panel.
5. Click Save.

You can require specific section templates to be included in all your firm's reports.

Add unique content to a report

You may sometimes want to make changes to a single report and add content that falls outside of your firm's standard section templates. To add unique content to a report, you can unlink sections from templates, add custom sections, and save an analysis view to a report.

> Tip: To add unique content for one portfolio, enable the report for only that portfolio. For example, to add unique content for Ami Smith, the quarterly report should be enabled for only her portfolio. Otherwise, any sections you add will affect other portfolios associated with the report.

Add custom sections to a report

To add a custom section:

1. In the Report Editor, click the + add button at the bottom of the outline panel.
2. Select a blank portrait or landscape custom section to automatically add it to the bottom of the report.
3. You can move the section to a different location in the report by dragging and dropping it in the outline panel.
4. Click Save.

Note: To reuse the custom section in other reports, you can copy the section to the template library.

Since custom sections are not added to your firm's section templates, they are often challenging to maintain, especially for larger firms. Addepar recommends using custom sections sparingly.

Add analysis views to a report

To add an analysis view to a report:

1. Go to Analysis & Reporting, and select a portfolio.
2. Go to the Analysis tab, and select a view from the view dropdown.
3. Click on the ellipsis icon next to the view dropdown.
4. Click Save to Report.
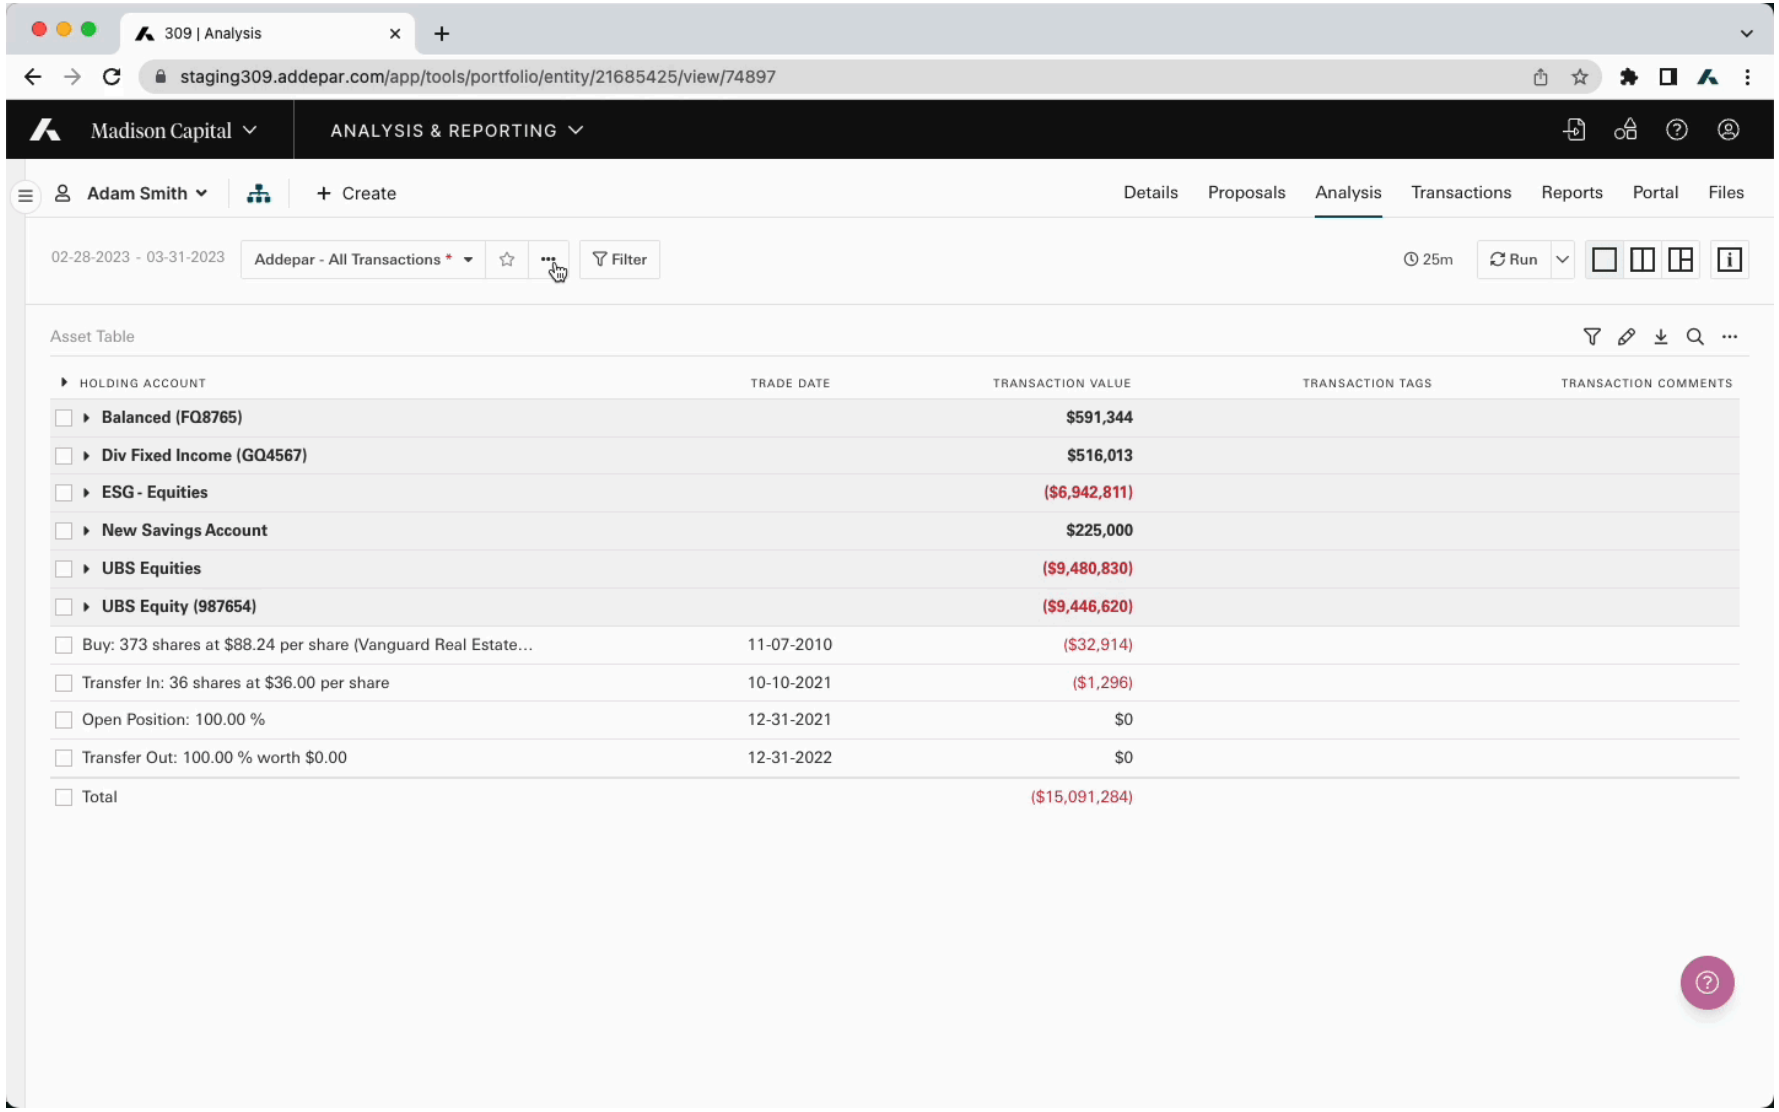
5. Choose the report you want to add the view to, and click Save.
6. The Report Editor will open in a new browser tab, and you'll see the view added to the report as a new section.



Polish a report

To help a report look complete, Addepar recommends customizing charts and tables to match your firm's branding and adding the following basic content:

- Cover page

- Table of contents
- Disclosures
- Headers and footers (with page numbers)

You can also customize charts and tables to match your firm's branding.

Customize a report's paper size

You can personalize a report's paper size to accommodate the needs of various clients and stakeholders with the following options:

- A4 (8.27 x 11.69 inches) is the international standard paper size and best used for clients outside North America.
- Letter (8.5 x 11 inches) is the standard paper size in North America and parts of South America. It's best used for clients based there.
- Legal (8.5 x 14 inches) can be helpful when you want to decrease the report page count for your clients.
- Tabloid (11 x 17 inches) can be helpful for one-pagers, like those shared internally with executives.

For example, you might create two different reports with similar content, but different paper sizes. One is set to letter size and used for clients in North America, with the other set to A4 and used for all other clients. Each report would also have their own set of section templates specifically created for the selected paper size.

To customize a report's paper size:

1. Go to Analysis & Reporting > Reports, then select a report. Click on the ellipsis icon > Settings. Alternatively, you can open the report in the Report Editor and click on Settings.
2. Select a Paper size. This will be the size used for all section templates in the report.
3. Click Save.
4. Report elements are not automatically resized, so make sure to review the report's formatting after changing the paper size.

Note: Permission to unlink sections is required to change the existing paper size of a report, as changing the paper size will unlink all sections using the previous paper size. Learn more about managing section templates

Remove sections from a report

To remove a section from a report:

1. Open the report in the Report Editor.

2. Hover over the section you want to remove, and click the X. If the section template is required by your firm, the X will not appear.
3. Click Save.

To reduce manual work and make reports compatible with more portfolios, dynamically omit sections without data from PDFs. efault visibility is managed in the firm's report settings, but you can override it for individual sections.

1. Go to Analysis and Reporting and select a portfolio.
2. Go to the Reports tab and locate the report you want to delete.
3. Hover over the report and click on the ellipsis icon.
4. Click Delete.

Important: The report will be deleted for all portfolios that it was enabled for and will no longer be accessible to members of your firm. This action cannot be undone. Any PDF reports previously generated will remain available in the Generated PDFs tab.

Keyboard shortcuts

Navigate reports

You can use a keyboard to navigate and take actions in the Reports tab. Press the tab key to move forward to the next element on the screen, or press the shift and tab keys simultaneously to move backward. To select an item, press the space bar or the enter key.

For example, to open a report in the Report Editor:

1. Press the Tab key until you land on the edit icon.
2. Press the space bar or the enter key to select the icon. The Report Editor will open in a new window.

Copy, cut, and paste in reports

You can edit report elements using only your keyboard. You can also copy charts and tables from analysis views and paste them into reports, and vice versa. This is useful when you want to quickly share content between the two products without recreating it.

1. In the Report Editor, select a report element, like a table or chart.
2. Use the following shortcuts:
   - Ctrl/command + C to copy
   - Ctrl/command + X to cut
   - Ctrl/command + V to paste
